What builds a college?

What builds an educated person?

Is it

heeding,

feeding,

reading,

needing,

greeting,

and meeting?

A college, like an educated person, is structured from foundations,

walls,

doors,

and windows

upon which we may stand,

build,

enter,

and reflect.

It is cemented with diligence and seriousness of purpose.

It is landscaped with relaxation and fun.

Colleges and educated people must ever be willing to tear down the old

in order to build the new more strongly.

Buildings help ;

however, the building of ideas can start only with people.

This process begins at Pembroke State College with registration.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

PEMBROKE STATE COLLEGE

PEMBROKE, NORTH CAROLINA

May 30, 1965

My Dear Friends:

During the past four years at P.S.C., the seniors have been a vital part of the fastest growing State-supported College in North Carolina. Physical facilities have doubled in value. We have twice as many professors today as we had when you came four years ago. The operational budget has increased almost one million dollars. These have probably been the most exciting four years that Pembroke State College will experience.

I fully recognize the importance and need for the growth of our physical facilities and operational budget. However, the greatest growth occurring on our campus during your stay here is not to be found in the bricks, the blocks, or the hundreds of tons of steel delivered here, but it is to be found in YOU, the members of the Senior Class.

It is your growth and your maturity in which the professors and administrators are most concerned. As we continue a gradual development toward maturity here, I sincerely hope that each of you will again set for yourself high goals of mental and spiritual maturity. It is only through a continued search for these goals that we find our greatest happiness.

Sincerely,

English E. Jones
President
Pembroke State College

EEJ:bp

English E. Jones, President
Mrs. Berteen Prince, Secretary to the President

Dedication

For his unwavering devotion to his profession, his loyal service to the college, his diligent scholarship, and his ceaseless efforts to assist the student, we, the Senior Class, in grateful appreciation dedicate the 1965 Indianhead to Dr. George R. Monks.

As a student enters college, he is repeatedly reminded of his scholastic obligation. More often than not, these reminders are mere verbal utterances; however, this is not true of Dr. Monks. In this aspect of his person, Dr. Monks is a constant. Through his living example of persevering scholarship, he conveys, not to the erudite alone, but to the average student as well, the atmosphere of accomplished enlightenment, active awareness, and transferable understanding.

Teacher of the Year

In appreciation of her efforts to instill in her students the incentive to conquer greater horizons, of her endeavors through her guidance to channel the students' interests and abilities in the proper course, and of her fairness and firmness in student-teacher observation, the Senior Class has chosen Dr. Janie B. Silver as the Teacher of the Year.

ADMINISTRATION

Board of Trustees

A college cannot operate without the interest and care of various groups. Pembroke State College relies upon its Board of Trustees for administrative policies which will insure a progressively good future for the College. We take this opportunity to express our gratitude of each member of the board for the time, effort, and care he affords this institution. Above, the Reverend L.W. Jacobs, Chairman of the Board, is pictured with President English E. Jones and other members of the Board. The Board members were inspecting the progress of the building program.

CHEERLEADERS

Adding a note of color to sports activities, the cheerleaders are active participants in creating an atmosphere of friendly competition at campus sports events. The cheerleaders, through the leadership of spectators, avidly support the athletic program of the College. The highlight of the cheerleaders' activities during the year is the sponsorship of Homecoming, during which they sponsor a dance, a bonfire, a pep rally, and a parade.

MAJORETTES

The Majorettes add a spark to any festivity. Especially attractive at the head of the College band, the Majorettes charm crowds with their high-stepping, eye-catching routines. With their especially appropriate dress, they have added much to the many appearances of the band during the school year.

Mrs. Dorothy Alexander guided the girls through weeks of preparation and practices which was climaxed by a gala beauty pageant. Constant assistance and expert stage and lighting direction was rendered by Jack Dunston.

The meaning of education both universally and personally was the general topic covered in a series of short speeches delivered by the girls as they appeared in suits.

HOME COMING

The Homecoming activities started with a long parade. With bands and floats, the students and alumni wished the Braves good luck in the basketball game that evening.

During half-time, the Miss P.S.C. contestants and the band provided entertainment and suspense. Finally, Miss Ellen Lamberth was crowned Miss P.S.C. by Miss Donna Fauscett.

Artist Series

The annual Artist Series consists of professional talents in the arts. These programs are supported by the student's activity fee.

JOSE MOLINA BAILES ESPANOLES

The first program of the series was a group of Spanish dancers. Their concert was unique for Pembroke. They presented a history of the Spanish dance, including the traditional historical dances. As a major event in the Artist Series, the program was well received by the students.

Richard Bauer played the title role in HAMLET, Shakespeare's greatest play, presented here by National Players of Washington, D.C. Considered the masterpiece of the English language, HAMLET, of all the plays written by Shakespeare, has enjoyed the most popularity, both on the stage and in the library. The current production marks a high point in 16 years of touring the classics by National Players.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Faith being the fulfillment of religious belief, one realizes his need to foster his faith during his college years. The Baptist Student Union offers this opportunity to members of the Baptist faith. An essential part of the B.S.U. program is its offer of guidance to its membership. Through its strong program of religious guidance, the B.S.U. develops confidence in the student who needs to feel this sense of security.

Indianhead Staff

Miss Buntie Riddle
Editor

What is an annual? Is it a book of memories, a directory of information, or just another dust collector? An annual holds a different meaning for each individual connected with its production. To the casual reader, it may simply be a moment's interest; to the college staff, who know the efforts necessary for its completion, it may simply be another job and, at times, an imposition. Perhaps it is only to the Indianhead Staff that the year's annual edition means something deeper, more memorable. To them, it is the child born as the result of a year's long and diligent supervision, inspiration, disappointment, goals, and failures. Then, finally, the emergence of a reality from all of those dreams, and in their hands is held a tangible evidence of planning, of hoping, and sometimes even praying.

THE PINE NEEDLE

Gloria Tara Morrison

PEMBROKE STATE COLLEGE

PEMBROKE, NORTH CAROLINA

Coverage Covers Carefully

The Pine Needle coverage extends to every phase of campus life. The paper serves as a news media for students, administration, parents and other interested persons. It also offers interested and talented students an opportunity to be a part of this service.

As a news media, The Pine Needle reports on the activities and projects of each campus organization, publicizing special club events and new organizations.

Feature articles, editorials, public opinion polls and letters from the readers are basic parts of the paper and illustrate its scope and effort to be a moving force on the campus.

A work project of the journalism class, The Pine Needle gives not only English majors newspaper experience but finds material from a variety of other sources as well. Contributions are solicited from any student, whatever his talent: writing, drawing, photography.

There is even a special literary issue of the paper dedicated to presenting creative work of the students.

The paper also recognizes the achievements of outstanding students, be they honor students, athletes, exceptional art students, students giving music recitals or students receiving special awards.

These policies are an appeal to every student to contribute to the college newspaper. Such practices are also examples of The Pine Needle's coverage.

Also important in the paper's scope is its role in coordinating students and administration. Each must know what the other wants, plans, or suggests and The Pine Needle efforts result in a well-informed, more closely-knit campus.

Face Lifting

1964-65 was a new year, and the Pine Needle was a new newspaper. This year the face of the Pine Needle has been altered. This "Face-lifting" was overwhelmingly agreed upon by the journalism class; this change is one of many improvements inaugurated by the current staff.

In a competitive spirit, many original banner designs were submitted by Pembroke State College students. These students competed for the honor of having their design chosen to introduce this year's newspaper. The clever piece of artistry selected was designed by Gloria Morrison, a sophomore from Lumberton.

The banner or title head of the newspaper was changed from the familiar campus scene to a more contemporary scene, a twig of pine. The lettering of the name Pine Needle has been adapted to the image of pine needles—the theme of the college newspaper.

Paper Progresses Perfectly

The development and growth of the "Pine Needle" over the past 11 years has been amazing. The circulation has grown from 100 to 1000.

The "Pine Needle" was first circulated in 1953. At that time it was a three or four page, two column, mimeographed copy, produced once a semester. Only 100 copies were made. Later it grew to ten or twelve pages and came out twice a semester. Mrs. Berthe O. Prine graciously cut the stencil and mimeographed the "Pine Needle."

The first printed issue appeared in 1955. The paper was a 7" x 8", enlarged church bulletin size. The four pages were three columns wide each. For the first time pictures were used in the paper. It was printed by the Robinson Office Supply once a semester.

The continual growth was apparent in 1956 when the circulation increased to 500. The four page edition appeared on a printed page of tabloid size. The staff of the "Pine Needle" read copies and pasted up dummies at "The Robesonian" office in Lumberton. Two issues were printed each semester.

The Raeford printed office printed the 1962 issues of the "Pine Needle." These issues were printed in off-set type.

Our "Pine Needle" now has a circulation of 1000. The eighth page, tabloid size, paper is printed in Raeford. Through off-set type we are able to use art work and creative work of the students. It also enables the staff to use pictures of any size. Many changes have been made in the paper, yet, it still has its original purpose and delight to the students.

The staff has grown from five students interested in journalism to a present-day staff of 21. Only Miss I. Ruth Martin can appreciate the growth of our school paper as she has carefully supervised it from its beginning.

Sounding Board

Verbalizing

The Pine Needle Staff has established two new columns this year entitled "The Sounding Board" and "Opinion Poll".

The purpose of both columns is to enable students who wish to have a voice in the college paper. Since the Pine Needle is representative of Pembroke State College, we feel it necessary to give the students the opportunity to verbalize in this fashion.

The "Sounding Board" is made up of various paragraphs written by students who are identified as to name and classification and hometown. The contents can be of different natures; either commending a certain situation or criticizing some fashion on something that "bugs" someone.

The "Opinion Poll" is somewhat different as the Pine Needle Staff selects some question or phrase on which students may voice an opinion. It may be either serious or humorous.

Both of the columns have been a tremendous success because the students feel that the paper is theirs, not just the property of the journalism classes.

Image

Pembroke State College stands as a symbol of education, and we as students represent its education in the making. Every student at this institution has one ultimate goal, and that is to make others aware of the type student our college produces.

The Pine Needle is a source of information concerning the events at Pembroke State College. It announces upcoming events as well as summarizes past happenings. The Pine Needle is a means of communication.

As students, we have watched Pembroke State College grow in many different facets: faculty, enrollment, academics, and buildings. When one experiences such changes, he cannot help but have deep sentiments about such an institution!

Writers All

Any news event pertaining to anyone or anything dealing with Pembroke State College, on or off campus, is subject to appear as an article in the Pine Needle.

Assignments are rotated among the staff to give each member the opportunity of experience in different fields. These assignments cover every area on campus and allow the staff to know the inner workings of campus life.

The actual preparation of an article is the staff member's responsibility. He is responsible for obtaining the facts and for writing the article in such a way that the most newsworthy item appears first. Obtaining the necessary facts is perhaps the hardest thing to do.

The students contact the persons involved who would most likely have the facts on the subjects. Then they roughly write up these facts by taking notes during the interviews. Next, the students write out the articles in the manner in which they think appropriate for the subjects. These copies are handed in to Miss Martin for her censoring, approval, and general proof-reading. When the corrected articles are returned to the students, they type them up to be ready for printing.

"Putting the paper to bed" or getting the paper ready for printing is the most difficult task of the staff. Each page has to be assembled as it should be in print.

The articles are divided into eight sections for the eight pages. The editor and faculty advisor usually select the articles for each page. Staff members are assigned pages to "lay-out."

The "laying-out" is done on a "dummy sheet," a sheet that represents the actual page of the paper. Each page dummy consists of the assigned articles with words counted and pictures in place.

Educated View

The Pine Needle might be called the co-ordinator of PSC. Through the Pine Needle, all the activities and news items of the campus are tied together and relayed to the students in a factual and entertaining manner. We must give dates and other details to the students in such a way that they will want to read them. It is the aim of the newspaper staff to let the greatest number of students possible know what is happening at PSC.

The purpose of the Pine Needle is not only to describe to the students what has already happened, but also to let them know what is coming up in the future.

Our purpose is also to stimulate interest in and develop a feeling of unity among PSC student. We ultimately strive to report above the average newspaper reading level; to report from an educated viewpoint. We feel that by reading the Pine Needle, a student can become a better citizen of the PSC community.

Acting as intermediaries between the students and administration is the Pembroke State College Student Council. Their work in this area is manifold and varied. Perhaps their most unpleasant task is meting out justice to student felons. They are the head of all campus organizations, and they supervise student social and athletic activities, Thursday night socials, intramural sports, and most of the formal dances.

STUDENT NURSES

For the first time in the history of Pembroke State College, the Southeastern General Hospital in Lumberton has arranged a special program for its freshmen student nurses. In this program, the girls commute from the hospital to Pembroke in the late afternoon to take their basic freshmen courses. Their nurses' training is received at the hospital. The nurses are very active in campus affairs, and they are a most welcomed addition to our campus. Mrs. Elizabeth Nye acts as their advisor and coordinator.
